Foreign Investment And Economic Development In China 1979 1996:

Foreign Investment and Economic Development in China Haishun Sun, 2018-08-10 First published in 1998 Sun investigates the ramifications foreign investment has had on China over 1979 to 1996 This empirical research discusses the issues theories as well as the regional economics to create a discourse in foreign investment in china Foreign Investment and Economic Development in China, 2002 Multinationals and Foreign Investment in Economic Development E. Graham, 2005-04-28 During the past twenty or so years foreign direct investment FDI flows have increased at rates approaching the astounding especially so during the 1990s While much of the increase was due to unprecedented cross border mergers and acquisitions among high income countries the amount of FDI flowing to developing nations also grew substantially This volume examines the economics of this FDI to developing countries Some chapters are theoretical in nature others empirical and still others are largely policy oriented Topics covered include whether FDI makes an autonomous contribution to growth in these nations and whether or not spillovers are generated by this investments Also covered are effects of policy intervention by governments on FDI flows and whether non economic factors e g cultural factors might figure as determinants of location of FDI Foreign Direct Investment in Western China, 1994-2004 Xianming Yang, Ning Huang, Guoqing Zhao, 2024-12-28 This book focuses on the FDI in western China and aims to explore the logic behind the regional development From 1994 to 2004 China s economy enjoyed a golden stage of rapid growth As the top destination for foreign investment China has integrated into the international production system and global value chain However it is apparent that the FDI distribution was unbalanced as the eastern region absorbed far more FDI than its western counterpart a situation that remained unchanged even after China launched the Western Development Strategy WDS This book begins with the question of why it is difficult to introduce FDI to western China followed by discussion on the gap of technology human capital industrial foundation location selection institutional factors and investment environment between the western and eastern China The author analyzes how the lack of FDI growth affects the long term growth of the western region

FDI and Development in Vietnam Hoang Mai Pham, 2004 As Vietnam s economy moves further along the path of development this book presents urgent lessons for policymakers from the country s first decade of experience of FDI A mere decade after the start of its reforms towards a market oriented economy a World Bank report named Vietnam the second largest recipient of foreign direct investment FDI Drawing on a wealth of hitherto unpublished data and qualitative analysis this work critically examines the overall impact of FDI on Vietnams economy as well as the performance of individual projects A major finding is that government policy and intervention have been important in channelling foreign investment flows towards national and regional development goals This book is also a significant addition to the debates on FDI induced effects such as technology transfer and employment creation in developing countries It will be of great interest to all those researching or involved in policymaking in transitional economies in particular International Trade, Capital Flows and Economic Development in East Asia Anthony Bende-Nabende, 2017-03-02 The book provides an understanding of how international trade and capital flows have engineered the development process in East Asia and examines the real and potential challenges that the region is expected to encounter in the twenty-first century. It integrates four topics, i.e. capital flows, East Asia globalization and economic development that are at the centre of the social, political and economic debate. The text highlights the region's growing strategic importance in the twenty-first century globalizing world where transnational corporations are playing an increasingly decisive role in the global distribution of production and trade. It blends generalised regional analyses with country-specific case studies in the world's most dynamic region. It is so well designed that each of the seventeen countries that comprise the region gets some space for discussion. Thus the text is a valuable contribution to the social science and business literature with a special focus on the now strategic region of East Asia. China's Economic

Miracle Sumei Tang, Eliyathamby A. Selvanathan, Saroja Selvanathan, 2012-01-01 This insightful book analyses the impact of Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in China as well as making valuable contributions to the theory of FDI. More broadly, the authors provide empirical analysis of key factors including the location-specific determinants of FDI, the impact of FDI on domestic investment, income distribution, consumption and tourism, the relationship between FDI inflows and income inequality, causality between FDI, domestic investment and economic growth, and causality between FDI and tourism. The study concludes that FDI plays a crucial and positive role in the economic development of China. Rather than crowding out domestic investment, FDI is found to stimulate economic growth by complementing it. China's Economic Miracle will be warmly welcomed by potential investors who are interested in investing in China. It will be highly useful for academics and postgraduate students with an interest in FDI or the Chinese economy. With strong policy-oriented analyses and discussions on implications, the book will also prove invaluable to policy makers in various government and private sectors who have trade links with China. Liberalising Foreign Direct Investment Policies in the APEC Region Bernie Bishop, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2001 This work is a response to criticisms that investment liberalization in the APEC region is not moving quickly enough It commences with a historical overview of APEC's process for investment liberalization and a description of current foreign direct investment policies for each of the APEC economies It then argues that there are significant constraints to further liberalization arising from economic development concerns in the developing countries and political considerations in both developed and developing countries in the region It also suggests that a truly liberalized investment environment would involve the removal of investment incentives Again there are political and institutional reasons that make this difficult With several suggestions for further research that should better inform policy makers this is an informative insight into the complex issues involved in the liberalization process in the APEC region
