Forest Mensuration Anthonie van Laar, Alparslan Akça, 2007-07-20 Forest mensuration is one of the most fundamental disciplines within forest and related sciences It deals with the measurement of trees and stands and the analysis of the resultant information During the early days of sustained forest management simple measurement and estimation methods and with the analysis of inventory and research data were available The middle of last century however witnessed a worldwide increase in the need for more quantitative information about trees and stands This generated the need for more sophisticated methods to obtain and analyze forest data This development was followed by a phenomenal explosion of information During the past decades there has been fruitful cooperation between the Institute of Forest Inventory and Forest Growth formerly Institute of Forest Management and Forest Yield Sciences of the University of Göttingen Germany and the Faculty of Forestry of the University of Stellenbosch South Africa This book is one of the results of this fruitful cooperation between these institutions

Forest Inventory Annika Kangas, Matti Maltamo, 2006-02-19 This book has been developed as a forest inventory textbook for students and could also serve as a handbook for practical foresters We have set out to keep the mathematics in the book at a fairly non technical level and therefore although we deal with many issues that include highly sophisticated methodology we try to present first and foremost the ideas behind them For foresters who need more details references are given to more advanced scientific papers and books in the fields of statistics and biometrics Forest inventory books deal mostly with sampling and measurement issues as found here in section I but since forest inventories in many countries involve much more than this we have also included material on forestry applications Most applications nowadays involve remote sensing technology of some sort so that section II deals mostly with the use of remote sensing material for this purpose Section III deals with national inventories carried out in different parts of world and section IV is an attempt to outline some future possibilities of forest inventory methodologies The editors Annika Kangas Professor of Forest Mensuration and Management Department of Forest Resource Management University of Helsinki Matti Maltamo Professor of Forest Mensuration Faculty of Forestry University of Joensuu
