Forgotten Ideas, Neglected Pioneers Daniel L. Schacter, 2012-12-06 Richard Semon was a German evolutionary biologist who wrote during the first decade of the twentieth century two fascinating analyses of the workings of human memory which were ahead of their time Although these have been virtually unknown to modern researchers Semon's work has been rediscovered during the past two decades and has begun to have an influence on the field This book not only examines Semon's contribution to memory research but also tells the story of an extraordinary life set against the background of a turbulent period in European history and major developments in science and evolutionary theory The resulting book is an engaging blend of biographical historical and psychological material

An Introduction to the History of Chronobiology, Volume 1 Jole Shackelford, 2022-09-20 In three volumes historian Jole Shackelford delineates the history of the study of biological rhythms now widely known as chronobiology from antiquity into the twentieth century Perhaps the most well known biological rhythm is the circadian rhythm tied to the cycles of day and night and often referred to as the body clock But there are many other biological rhythms and although scientists and the natural philosophers who preceded them have long known about them only in the past thirty years have a handful of pioneering scientists begun to study such rhythms in plants and animals seriously Tracing the intellectual and institutional development of biological rhythm studies Shackelford offers a meaningful evidence based account of a field that today holds great promise for applications in agriculture health care and public health Volume 1 follows early biological observations and research chiefly on plants volume 2 turns to animal and human rhythms and the disciplinary contexts for chronobiological investigation and volume 3 focuses primarily on twentieth century researchers who modeled biological clocks and sought them out including three molecular biologists whose work in determining clock mechanisms earned them a Nobel Prize in 2017

Words and Notes in the Long Nineteenth Century Phyllis Weliver, Katharine Ellis, 2013 Contributors to the volume engage in two dialogues with nineteenth century conceptions of word music relations and with each other Criss crossing disciplinary boundaries the authors of the book's eleven essays address new questions relating to listening imagining and performing music the act of critique and music's links with philosophy and aesthetics Fiction and poetry musicography philosophy music theory science and music analysis all feature as do traditions within English French and German studies

Thinking About Everything Dennis Ford, 2008-11-04 Humorist Dennis Ford has seen it all After all he lives in New Jersey As a teacher and bookseller Ford contemplates some of life's great questions all without leaving his car These include What's the funniest word in the English language How plastic surgery can turn devils into hotties The case of the perfectly fitting police uniform But Ford doesn't stop there He also devises a master plan to win the war in Iraq and ease the burden on the military explains how to apply for membership in the Society of Goths and backs up his belief that while Jesus may have been resurrected he most certainly wasn't crucified Politics religion psychology and popular culture it's all fair game Ford takes on everything shooting from the lip and saying out loud what everyone else keeps to themselves Stop taking life so seriously and consider the lighter side of things in Thinking About Everything

Design for Micro-utopias John Wood,2007 Design for Micro Utopias does not advocate a serious quest for a single monolithic Utopia Rather it invites readers to embrace a more tentative temporary pluralized and truncated version of Thomas More s famous 1516 novel of the same name It therefore encourages the proliferation of many micro utopias rather than one Utopia This requires a less critical negative and rational approach Referencing a wide range of philosophical thinking from Aristotle to the present day western and eastern spiritual ideals and scientific biological and systems theory John Wood offers remedies for our excessively individualistic mechanistic and disconnected thinking and asks whether a metadesign approach might bring about a new mode of governance This is a daring idea Ultimately he reminds us that if we believe that miracles are impossible we make them even less attainable The first step is to make them thinkable
