Forensic Evaluation And Treatment Of Juveniles Innovation And Best Practice:

Forensic Evaluation and Treatment of Juveniles Randall T. Salekin, 2015 Psychologists have always played a key role in determining how the juvenile justice system assesses and treats young offenders Recent neuropsychological findings show that there are important developmental differences between juvenile offenders such as varying levels of maturity risk potential and amenability to treatment not to mention individualized personality traits and possible mental disorders Psychologists must therefore strive for targeted rehabilitation services to avoid unfair treatment and redirect youth to healthier life choices This book is a practical guide that will help psychologists answer important psycho legal questions to properly assess and treat juvenile offenders These guidelines primarily focus on disposition evaluations which describe adolescent offenders and paths to rehabilitation and transfer evaluations which determine whether juveniles should be moved to adult courts Psychological assessments can greatly influence a judge s decision so this book will help forensic clinicians consider important external factors such as local laws and the political climate and present assessment data to judges in a thorough understandable manner This book will also be valuable for attorneys judges criminologists and legal scholars who want to understand the psychological science behind juvenile assessment Publicity materials PsycINFO Database Record c 2015 APA all rights reserved Evaluating Juvenile Transfer and Disposition Kirk Heilbrun, David DeMatteo, Christopher King, Sarah Filone, 2017-05-08 Focusing on juvenile transfer and disposition evaluations this volume provides an up to date integration of current law science and practice with respect to juvenile risk assessment treatment needs amenability and sophistication maturity Included are perspectives relating to international practices use of specialized assessment tools and a separate chapter on resentencing following US Supreme Court decisions on juveniles sentenced to mandatory life without parole This text will be a useful and comprehensive reference for forensic psychologists and other mental health professionals engaged in juvenile evaluation as well as legal professionals juvenile and criminal justice professionals and others involved with juvenile assessment decision making and rehabilitation Evaluations for

Sentencing of Juveniles in Criminal Court Antoinette Kavanaugh, Thomas Grisso, 2020 Young people charged with serious offenses may be tried in criminal court The U S Supreme Court recently ruled that if convicted in criminal court juveniles sentencing must take into account their relative developmental immaturity compared to adults Therefore Judges and attorneys in these cases need information from forensic mental health examiners about a youth s degree of immaturity and its relevance for sentencing This is the first book to provide forensic mental health examiners a legal and developmental foundation for these evaluations as well as best practices for performing the evaluation and communicating it to the court

Assessing the Youthful Offender Robert D. Hoge, D.A. Andrews, 2013-06-29 Our society's preoccupation with crime and fear of crime appears to have shifted its focus to the juvenile offender Both electronic and print media continuously warn us that juvenile offenders are increasingly younger and more virulent The demographics of our population suggest that there will only be more juvenile offenders to fear in the near future All of these concerns arise in a social climate that is characterized by an ever increasing demand for stronger retributive measures against the offender The belief that only harsh justice will protect us from the ravages of juveniles has become dominant Increasingly perceptions and politics rather than scientific data dominate policy making with regard to youthful offenders In Assessing the Youthful Offender: Issues and Techniques Robert D Hoge and D A Andrews make a restrained rational and ultimately persuasive argument for the use of standardized psychological assessments in the effective management of youth within juvenile justice systems They clarify how what we already know about the cause and management of youthful criminal activity can be incorporated into standardized testing and that the information obtained from testing can improve the administration of criminal justice Moreover this information is useful whatever the theoretical biases of those who administer the justice system The efficiency of policies of either retribution deterrence or rehabilitation is only enhanced by reliance on data
