Fortress Conservation Fortress Conservation:

Fortress Conservation Dan Brockington, 2002 Includes statistics , Green Development William Mark Adams, 2001 This new edition has been completely re written Giving a valuable analysis of the theory and practice of sustainable development it suggests that at the start of the new millennium we should think radically about the challenge of sustainability Fortress Conservation and International Accountability for Human Rights Violations Against Batwa in Kahuzi-Biega National Park Colin Luoma, 2022-05-05 Fortress Conservation and International Accountability for Human Rights Violations against Batwa in Kahuzi-Biega National Park Colin Luoma, 2022-05-05 The Kahuzi Biega National Park PNKB in the Democratic Republic of the Congo presents an existential threat to the indigenous Batwa people For millennia Batwa occupied the forests surrounding Mount Kahuzi and Mount Biega utilizing traditional ecological knowledge and sustainable practices to foster one of the most biodiverse places on the planet The creation of the PNKB in the 1970s forced Batwa from their ancestral lands rendering them deeply impoverished landless dependent and culturally disconnected When they seek to return home and access their lands and resources they are subjected to extreme violence by park authorities who treat them as trespassers poachers and enemies of conservation This report situates the serious human rights violations suffered by Batwa in the PNKB within the broader global phenomenon of fortress conservation and analyses the respective roles and accountability of the park s core international partners Ongoing violence against Batwa in the PNKB is a stark reminder of the immense human and environmental costs associated with pursuing conservation policies that prevent indigenous peoples from owning governing accessing and benefiting from their territories and resources These policies are bolstered by donors global NGOs and international organizations which enable and tacitly uphold a violent and anti indigenous status quo in the PNKB and other protected areas Donors conservation organizations and other international partners of the PNKB have failed to adequately ensure that their support did not contribute to human rights violations committed against Batwa These international partners had explicit knowledge of unresolved human rights abuses committed by ecoguards as well as threats of imminent violence against Batwa communities living inside the park Yet they continued to equip fund and train ecoguards and actively promoted the increasing militarization of the PNKB This militarization has resulted in overly aggressive policing and military style actions by ecoguards often jointly with the Congolese Army who explicitly target criminalize and brutalize Batwa At the same time the park consistently fails to meet environmental expectations and objectives Thus the PNKB represents a clear case of how fortress conservation fails both people and the environment Regrettably it is not an isolated example of flawed conservation policy Instead it is indicative of the institutional shortcomings and systemic failures inherent in the dominant ways in which conservation is pursued by states and promoted by international conservation actors in the Congo Basin and in other parts of the world Wright's Hill Fortress Conservation Plan , 1997 Encyclopedia of Environment and Society Paul Robbins, 2007-08-27 As befits the topic this beautifully packaged wonderfully illustrated interdisciplinary resource has more than 1200 entries written by specialists A helpful reader's guide groups topics like agriculture conservation and ecology movements and regulations politics pollution and society A resource guide chronology glossary and list of the UN's economic indicators complete the set Library Journal this important work gives a well focused snapshot of environmentalism in the early 21st Century and it will remain valuable into the future both for its content and as a yardstick to measure progress toward sustainability and conservation Summing Up Recommended Undergraduates and general readers CHOICE Booklist Editors Choice 2008 This superb interdisciplinary work should find a place on the shelves of every public and academic library that has the least bit of interest in environment issues which should mean just about all Booklist Starred Review Where does the environment leave off and society begin When expanding production and consumption drives greenhouse gas emissions that warm the planet which in turn influence the conditions of economic expansion it is unclear where the climate ends and the economy begins This fact is not new to our era however our social and natural sciences have only recently come to grips with the incredible complexity of the world described by understanding the environment and society as being of a piece As a result in the last decade there has been an unprecedented explosion of new concepts theories facts and techniques that follow from such an understanding The Encyclopedia of Environment and Society brings together multiplying issues concepts theories examples problems and policies with the goal of clearly explicating an emerging way of thinking about people and nature With more than 1 200 entries written by experts from incredibly diverse fields this innovative resource is a first step toward diving into the deep pool of emerging knowledge The five volumes of this Encyclopedia represent more than a catalogue of terms Rather they capture the spirit of the moment a fascinating time when global warming and genetic engineering represent only two of the most obvious examples of socio environmental issues Key Features Examines many new ideas about how the world works what creates the daunting problems of our time and how such issues might be addressed whether by regulation markets or new ethics Demonstrates how theories of environmental management based on market efficiency may not be easily reconciled with those that focus on population and both may certainly diverge from those centering on ethics justice or labor Offers contributions from experts in their fields of specialty including geographers political scientists chemists anthropologists medical practitioners development experts and sociologists among many others Explores the emerging socio environmental problems that we face in the next century as well as the shifting and expanding theoretical tools available for tackling these problems Covers regions of North America in greater detail but also provides a comprehensive picture that approaches as effectively as possible a cohesive global vision Key Themes Agriculture Animals Biology and Chemistry Climate Conservation and Ecology Countries Geography History Movements and Regulations Organizations People Politics Pollution Society Packed with essential and up to date information on the state of the global socio environment the Encyclopedia of Environment and Society is a time capsule of its historic moment and a record of where we stand at the start of the 21st century making it a must have resource for any library These inspiring volumes provide an opportunity for more new ways of thinking behaving and living in a more than human world Political Ecology Tor A. Benjaminsen,Hanne Svarstad,2021-02-08 This textbook introduces political ecology as an interdisciplinary approach to critically examine land and environmental issues Drawing on discourse and narrative analysis Marxist political economy and insights from natural science the book points at similarities differences and inter connections between environmental governance in the global North and South A wide range of carefully curated case studies are presented with a particular focus on Africa and Norway Key themes of power justice and environmental sustainability run through all chapters The authors challenge established views and leading discourses and present research findings that may surprise readers Chapters cover topics including wildlife conservation climate change and conflicts land grabbing the effects of population growth on the environment jihadism in the African Sahel bioprospecting feminist political ecology and struggles around carbon mitigation within a fossil fuel based economy This introductory text provides tools and examples for both undergraduate and postgraduate students to better understand on going struggles about some of the world s most urgent challenges Environmental Issues Today Robert J. Duffy,Susan M. Opp,2020-11-09 This two volume set provides an authoritative overview of the major environmental issues of the 21st century with a special focus on current challenges trends and policy choices This set provides an up to date comprehensive and focused resource for understanding the nature and scope of environmental challenges facing the United States and the world in the 21st century as well as options for meeting those challenges Volume One covers environmental trends and challenges within the United States while Volume Two illuminates environmental issues and choices around the world Issues covered in both volumes include vital topics such as climate change air and water pollution natural resource and species protection and agricultural industrial impacts on the environment and public health For all topics the authors scholars and experts hailing from a wide range of environmental and policy fields detail a range of political social and economic options for the future and explain why the issue in question is important for society and people as well as the natural world Nomadic Peoples and Human Rights Jérémie Gilbert,2014-03-26 Although nomadic peoples are scattered worldwide and have highly heterogeneous lifestyles they face similar threats to their mobile livelihood and survival Commonly nomadic peoples are facing pressure from the predominant sedentary world over mobility land rights water resources access to natural resources and migration routes Adding to these traditional problems rapid growth in the extractive industry and the need for the exploitation of the natural resources are putting new strains on nomadic lifestyles This book provides an innovative rights based approach to the issue of nomadism looking at issues including discrimination persecution freedom of movement land rights cultural and political rights and effective management of natural resources Jeremie Gilbert analyses the extent to which human rights law is able to provide protection for nomadic peoples to perpetuate their own way of life and culture The book questions whether the current human rights regime is able to protect nomadic peoples and highlights the lacuna that currently exists in international human rights law in relation to nomadic peoples. It goes on to propose avenues for the development of specific rights for nomadic peoples offering a new reading on freedom of movement, land rights and development in the context of nomadism.

Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa Melissa Leach, Ian Scoones, 2015-06-05 Amidst the pressing challenges of global climate change the last decade has seen a wave of forest carbon projects across the world designed to conserve and enhance forest carbon stocks in order to reduce carbon emissions from deforestation and offset emissions elsewhere. Exploring a set of new empirical case studies Carbon Conflicts and Forest Landscapes in Africa examines how these projects are unfolding their effects and who is gaining and losing. Situating forest carbon approaches as part of more general moves to address environmental problems by attaching market values to nature and ecosystems it examines how new projects interact with forest landscapes and their longer histories of intervention. The book asks what difference does carbon make. What political and ecological dynamics are unleashed by these new commodified marketized approaches and how are local forest users experiencing and responding to them. The book's case studies cover a wide range of African ecologies, project types and national political economic contexts. By examining these cases in a comparative framework and within an understanding of the national, regional and global institutional arrangements shaping forest carbon commoditisation the book provides a rich and compelling account of how and why carbon conflicts are emerging and how they might be avoided in future. This book will be of interest to students of development studies, environmental sciences, geography, economics, development studies and anthropology as well as practitioners and policy makers.

Protected Area Management Mohd Nazip Suratman, 2022-03-16 Until recently values and benefits from protected areas have often been underestimated as well as taken for granted. Protected Area Management: Recent Advances demonstrates that there are deep necessities in how the wider scientific, environmental, socioeconomic and cultural values that these natural ecosystems provide should increasingly be recognized. The book highlights various approaches for managing and conserving protected areas to respond to some pressing global challenges such as climate change, demand for food and energy, overexploitation and habitat change. It addresses these issues in five main sections that cover biodiversity and genetic resources, protected marine areas, community ecotourism and protected areas, and protected area conservation and monitoring.
