Abstract

There is a rapid increase in adoption of mobile technology for language learning and teaching. Mobile-assisted Language Learning (MALL) provides many avenues for any learner outside the constraints of time, place and time. In Mobile Learning, besides the conventional, off-line, paper, and text, an improvement in mobile language learning, there are apps and developed specifically for those who learn English as a second language. This paper focuses on the classification of mobile apps based on the primary, secondary and tertiary learners. Moreover, various and distinctive uses incorporating an implementation, analysis, evaluation of the mobile apps for language learning. There exists a clear distinction (technology, method, theory, and pedagogical factors) that defines the current mobile apps. Since there are no developed to enhance the language skills of the learners, emphasis should be primarily made on the acquisition of language skills such as listening, speaking, reading and writing skills through mobile technology. Thus, the study shows that learning skills are better acquired through apps than the other language skills.

INTRODUCTION

One of the most attractive technologies in mobile technology which is termed as technology (technology or technology). It covers many mobile devices such as mobile communication, data learning. The broad use of smartphones and different communication and Wi-Fi systems has increased the traditional teaching method and learning process (Khalid et al., 2020). The current range of mobile devices has led to the development of mobile applications for English Language Learning. Numerous apps are available for language learning to students through many sources for the Internet. Existing materials are for students mostly due to the portability and convenience of mobile devices.

Moreover, it helps in the classification of apps to help users to identify the right of apps and decide which one to use. There is a lack of research about which apps are good and useful for a particular learner. The learners are divided into the primary, secondary and tertiary level. Apps are classified according to the prior assessment category of learners that includes children, teenager or primary school school students in the secondary level, college students and adults in tertiary level. The main objective of this study is:

To put the learners to examine the distinction in choosing the mobile English Learning apps.

To identify apps based on the learner level.

To identify the effectiveness of existing L2APP apps through mobile technology.

THE CONCEPT OF MALL LEARNING

In the technological era, everyone has their own handheld mobile devices. Using these devices, with many users in common, they connect with people from anywhere in the world. Integration of time and place people and an exchange information with each other. The very term "mobile" stands for the "mobility" in the ability to move from one place to another. Mobile learning refers to the implementation of mobile devices in any form of media. The concept of mobile technology leads to the portability and information available place is used only in the convenience of English language learning and teaching (El-Hassan & Elmaghrabi, 2019).

The main characteristics of MALL learning can be the absence of any learner to know the needs of the learner as well as the place and time for language learning (Khalid et al., 2020). This method in the domain of mobile learning makes it easier for users to access to a mobile content because of the availability of new mobile devices for the student.

Generally, mobile learning can be defined as anything of the personal, portable and wireless devices such as the
