Abstract

There is a rapid increase in adoption of mobile technology for language learning and teaching. Mobile-assisted Language Learning (MALL) provides many avenues for any learner outside the constraints of time, place and time. In Mobile Learning, besides the convenience, effort, cost, time, space, and so on, important to assist language learning, there are apps and developed specifically for those who learn English as a second language. This paper focuses on the classification of mobile apps based on the primary, secondary and tertiary learners. Moreover, various user characteristics, user requirements and implementation, analysis, evaluation of the mobile apps for language learning. There are also other discussed (challenges, method, theory, and pedagogical factors) that address the current mobile apps. Since there are no developed to enhance the language skills of the learner, emphasis should be primarily made on the acquisition of language skills such as listening, speaking, reading and writing skills through mobile technology. Thus, the study shows that learning skills are better acquired through apps than that of other language skills.

INTRODUCTION

One of the most attractive technologies in mobile technology which considered a revolutionary approach in education. It gives users mobile devices such as mobile communication and learning. The broad use of smartphones and different communication and Wi-Fi network has attracted the attention teaching method and learning process (Wahidulhassan, 2020). The current usage of mobile devices has led to the use of mobile application in English Language Learning. Numerous apps are available for language learning to students through many sources for the Internet. Existing researches are the current study that in the possibility and availability of mobile devices.

Moreover, it helps in the classification of apps to help users to identify the type of apps and decide which one to use. There is a lack of research about which apps are good and useful for a particular learner. The research is divided into the primary, secondary and tertiary level. Apps are classified according to the prior assessment category of learners that includes children, teenager or primary school school students in the secondary level, college students and adults in tertiary level. The main objective of this study are:

To put the learner to consider the difficulty in choosing the mobile English Learning apps.

To identify apps based on the learner level.

To identify the effectiveness of existing L2/M2 apps through mobile technology.

THE CONCEPT OF MALL LEARNING

In the technological era, everyone has their own handheld mobile devices. Using these devices, with many users in common, they connect with people from anywhere in the world. Integration of time and place people and an exchange information with each other. The very term "mobile" stands for the "moving" in the study because being and moving from one place to another. Mobile learning refers to the implementation of mobile devices in any form of media. The concept of mobile technology such as the possibility and information available play a major role in the effectiveness of English language teaching and learning (El-Hassan & Elmaghrabi, 2016).

The main characteristics of MALL learning can be the division of the learner to know the needs of the learner as well as the place and time for language learning (Wahidulhassan, 2020). The method in the domain of mobile learning method is based on access to access to a mobile device because of the availability of new mobile devices for the student.

Generally, mobile learning can be defined as utilizing of the personal, portable and wireless devices such as the
