Evaluation And Decision Models Evaluation And Decision Models:

Evaluation and Decision Models Denis Bouyssou, Thierry Marchant, Marc Pirlot, Patrice Perny, Alexis Tsoukias, P. Vincke, 2012-12-06 1 1 Motivations Deciding is a very complex and difficult task Some people even argue that our ability to make decisions in complex situations is the main feature that distinguishes us from animals it is also common to say that laughing is the main difference Nevertheless when the task is too complex or the interests at stake are too important it quite often happens that we do not know or we are not sure what to decide and in many instances we resort to a decision support technique an informal one we toss a coin we ask an oracle we visit an astrologer we consult an expert we think or a formal one Although informal decision support techniques can be of interest in this book we will focus on formal ones Among the latter we find some well known decision support techniques cost benefit analysis multiple criteria decision analysis decision trees But there are many other ones sometimes not presented as decision support techniques that help making decisions Let us cite but a few examples When the director of a school must decide whether a given student will pass or fail he usually asks each teacher to assess the merits of the student by means of a grade The director then sums the grades and compares the result to a threshold When a bank must decide whether a given client will obtain a credit or not a technique called credit scoring is often used Evaluating and Applying Decision Models Denis Bouyssou, Thierry Marchant, Patrice Perny, Marc Pirlot, Alexis Tsoukias, Philippe Vincke, 2012-05-08 In the first volume of the set Evaluation and Decision Models A Critical Perspective the purpose is to provide a critical thinking framework for all individuals utilizing decision and evaluation models whether it be for research or applications In the book the authors criticized formal models while pointing out where these models can be useful On the other hand Evaluation and Decision Models with Multiple Criteria is a guide a way of reasoning aimed at helping the analyst to choose a model and use it consistently The authors propose often using an axiomatic point of view a sound analysis of techniques aimed at supporting the decision aiding process The presentation is carried out within a unique framework that can be extended to most decision and evaluation models as a decision aiding methodology

Evaluation and Decision Models with Multiple Criteria Raymond Bisdorff, Luis C. Dias, Patrick Meyer, Vincent Mousseau, Marc Pirlot, 2015-06-09 This book showcases a large variety of multiple criteria decision applications MCDAs presenting them in a coherent framework provided by the methodology chapters and the comments accompanying each case study The chapters describing MCDAs invite the reader to experiment with MCDA methods and perhaps develop new variants using data from these case studies or other cases they encounter equipping them with a broader perception of real world problems and how to overcome them with the help of MCDAs Evaluation and Decision Models with Multiple Criteria Denis Bouyssou, Thierry Marchant, Marc Pirlot, Alexis Tsoukias, Philippe Vincke, 2006-06-07 Formal decision and evaluation models are sets of explicit and well defined rules to collect assess and process information in order to be able to make recommendations in decision and or evaluation processes They are so widespread that almost no one can pretend not to have used or suffered the consequences of one of them Our earlier companion volume Evaluation and Decision Models heavily criticised formal models but also argued that they could be useful On the other hand Evaluation and Decision Models with Multiple Criteria is a guide aimed at helping the analyst to choose a model and use it consistently We propose a sound analysis of techniques and our presentation can be extended to most decision and evaluation models as a decision aiding methodology This volume is intended for the enlightened practitioner for anyone who uses decision or evaluation models for research or for applications and is willing to question his practice to have a deeper understanding of what he does

Evaluation and Decision Models Denis Bouyssou,Thierry Marchant,Marc Pirlot,2000-11-01 Decision Models for Personnel Policy Evaluation Samuel Yagar,1965 Evaluation/decision-making in Health Planning and Administration Morris Schaefer,1973 Data Mining and Decision Support Dunja Mladenic,Nada Lavrač,Marko Bohanec,Steve Moyle,2012-12-06 Data mining deals with finding patterns in data that are by user definition interesting and valid It is an interdisciplinary area involving databases machine learning pattern recognition statistics visualization and others Decision support focuses on developing systems to help decision makers solve problems Decision support provides a selection of data analysis simulation visualization and modeling techniques and software tools such as decision support systems group decision support and mediation systems expert systems databases and data warehouses Independently data mining and decision support are well developed research areas but until now there has been no systematic attempt to integrate them Data Mining and Decision Support Integration and Collaboration written by leading researchers in the field presents a conceptual framework plus the methods and tools for integrating the two disciplines and for applying this technology to business problems in a collaborative setting Consumer Behavior in Action Geoffrey Paul Lantos,2015-01-28 Consumer Behavior in Action is a down to earth highly engaging and thorough introduction to consumer behavior It goes further than other consumer behavior textbooks to generate student interest and activity through extensive use of in class and written applications exercises Each chapter presents several exercises in self contained units each with its own applications Learning objectives background and context are provided in an easy to digest format with liberal use of lists and bullet points Also included in each chapter are a key concepts list review questions and a solid summary to help initiate further student research The author s practical focus and clear conversational writing style combined with an active learning approach make this textbook the student friendly choice for courses on consumer behavior Decision Models for Management Jack Byrd,L. Ted Moore,1982 The Quest for a Science of Accounting Thomas A. Lee,Peter W. Wolnizer,2021-03-22 Originally published in 1997 the principal object of the editors in compiling this collection of Robert R Sterling s work was to make more of his publications accessible in a convenient form to the academic and professional accounting communities and to current and future generations of accounting students While it is not a complete portfolio of his published work to date this anthology contains all of Sterling s major articles Through his long term quest for a science of accounting Sterling sought to bring together accounting educators practitioners regulators and researchers in order to identify credible advancements in accounting knowledge authoritative changes to accounting practice and transforming improvements to accounting education

Encyclopedia of Medical Decision Making Michael W. Kattan, 2009-08-15 Decision making is a critical element in the field of medicine that can lead to life or death outcomes yet it is an element fraught with complex and conflicting variables diagnostic and therapeutic uncertainties patient preferences and values and costs Together decisions made by physicians patients insurers and policymakers determine the quality of health care quality that depends inherently on counterbalancing risks and benefits and competing objectives such as maximizing life expectancy versus optimizing quality of life or quality of care versus economic realities Broadly speaking concepts in medical decision making MDM may be divided into two major categories prescriptive and descriptive Work in the area of prescriptive MDM investigates how medical decisions should be done using complicated analyses and algorithms to determine cost effectiveness measures prediction methods and so on In contrast descriptive MDM studies how decisions actually are made involving human judgment biases social influences patient factors and so on The Encyclopedia of Medical Decision Making gives a gentle introduction to both categories revealing how medical and healthcare decisions are actually made and constrained and how physician healthcare management and patient decision making can be improved to optimize health outcomes Key Features Discusses very general issues that span many aspects of MDM including bioethics health policy and economics disaster simulation modeling medical informatics the psychology of decision making shared and team medical decision making social moral and religious factors end of life decision making assessing patient preference and patient adherence and more Incorporates both quantity and quality of life in optimizing a medical decision Considers characteristics of the decisionmaker and how those characteristics influence their decisions Presents outcome measures to judge the quality or impact of a medical decision Examines some of the more commonly encountered biostatistical methods used in prescriptive decision making Provides utility assessment techniques that facilitate quantitative medical decision making Addresses the many different assumption perspectives the decision maker might choose from when trying to optimize a decision Offers mechanisms for defining MDM algorithms With comprehensive and authoritative coverage by experts in the fields of medicine decision science and cognitive psychology and healthcare management this two volume Encyclopedia is a must have resource for any academic library
