Global Monitoring Report International Monetary Fund, 2012-04-25 What has been the impact of yet another food price spike on developing countries ability to make progress toward the Millennium Development Goals MDGs How many poor people have been prevented from lifting themselves out of poverty How many people and how many children have seen their personal growth and development permanently harmed because their families could not afford to buy food Finally what can countries do to respond to higher and more volatile food prices Global Monitoring Report 2012 Food Prices Nutrition and the Millennium Development Goals examines these questions It summarizes the effects of food prices on several MDGs stressing that recent food price spikes have prevented millions of households from escaping extreme poverty The report advocates using agricultural policy to orchestrate a supply response deploying social safety nets to improve resilience strengthening nutritional policy to manage the implications of early childhood development and implementing trade policy to improve access to food markets reduce volatility and induce productivity gains The report acknowledges that one size does not fit all and that the sequencing and prioritization of various policy initiatives depend critically on the initial situation a country or region finds itself in It also discusses support by the international community The world has met two global MDG targets well before the 2015 deadline Estimates based on preliminary surveys indicate that the share of people living in extreme poverty in 2010 was half what it was in 1990 The world has also halved the share of people with no safe drinking water The goal of gender parity in primary and secondary education is on track to be met in 2015 and the goal of ensuring that children everywhere boys and girls alike are able to complete primary school is nearly on track But the MDGs closely linked to food and nutrition particularly those that aim to reduce child and maternal mortality are lagging Global Monitoring Report 2012 was prepared jointly by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund with consultations and collaborations with regional development banks and other multilateral partners

Africa and the Global Financial Crisis Reuben Adeolu Alabi, 2011 In this volume of the African Development Perspectives Yearbook series the Research Group on African Development Perspectives investigates the impact of the Global Financial Crisis GFC on economic reform processes in Africa The analysis is structured in such a way so as to reflect the opportunities and dangers of policy reversals in the face of the GFC The impact of the crisis on different types and forms of governance in the region is considered The first question is therefore which macro economic policy instruments have to be applied in order to overcome the crisis and to continue with sustainable development The second question is how the GFC has affected Africa s external economic relations and if the path of opening up to the world markets is to be continued The third question raised is how the crisis has affected social cohesion impacted poverty alleviation strategies and the achievement of Millennium Development Goals MDGs All these questions are discussed in the various contributions which comprise general studies and country case studies The book also looks into the role of international financial institutions during and after the crisis Series African Development Perspectives Yearbook Vol 15 The Food and Financial Crises in Sub-Saharan Africa Muna Ndulo,2011 Dramatic increases in food prices as witnessed on a global scale in recent years threaten the food security of hundreds of millions of the rural poor in Sub Saharan Africa alone This book focuses on recent food and financial crises as they have affected Africa illustrating the problems using country case studies that cover their origins effects on agriculture and rural poverty their underlying factors and making recommendations as to how such crises could best be addressed in the future From Bilateralism to

Community Interest Ulrich Fastenrath,2011 This festschrift dedicated to Judge Bruno Simma traces the development of international law from regulating bilateral state to state relationships towards strengthening the entire international community by protecting human security the global environment and human rights It provides both theoretical and practical insights into these sometimes conflicting goals their basis in international law and the role played by international institutions charged with upholding these values and interests The work thus examines the mechanism by which international law contributes to the realization not only of individual State interests but the interests of the international community as a whole From this vantage point it looks at the various functions that international law fulfills in the international community from law making and institution building towards adjudication and the securing of human rights Taken together the contributions to this book paints a detailed but nevertheless comprehensive picture of the realization of community interest in contemporary international law As professor and judge Bruno Simma has contributed to all of these tasks providing ground breaking theoretical work serving in the International Law Commission and in the Committee for Economic Social and Cultural Rights and finally as a judge at the International Court of Justice in The Hague The three introductory chapters express this unity of life and work World Bank Research Program World Bank,2008 Report on
