Expulsions Saskia Sassen, 2014-05-05 Income inequality displaced and imprisoned populations destruction of land and water today's dislocations cannot be understood in the usual terms of poverty and injustice Saskia Sassen argues They are more accurately understood as expulsions from professional livelihood from living space from the very biosphere that makes life possible

Sovereignty, Migration and the Law Patricia Rushton, 2025-02-11 This book examines how states justify the creation of physical policy and legislative barriers of entry for migrants by drawing on a concept of sovereignty The movement of people across the world in search of refuge from persecution war and poverty is accelerating And as states confronted with this movement create physical policy and legislative barriers to entry they justify this exclusion by drawing on concepts of sovereignty This book interrogates that justification in an historical and theoretical context using the case study of Australian law and policy since 1900 as well as instances from other Western countries that have routinely copied from Australia But just as Australian migration policies are being replicated in the US Britain and Europe so this book argues is their employment of an anachronistic concept of sovereignty one that is reasserted precisely because of its waning power in the face of globalisation This book will be an important resource for law and political science scholars researchers and students in the fields of migration and refugee law and policy as well as to professional policy makers government institutions lawyers and international agencies with a particular focus on those fields Minorities and the Making of Postcolonial States in International Law Mohammad Shahabuddin, 2021-06-10 The ideological function of the postcolonial national liberal and developmental state inflicts various forms of marginalisation on minorities but simultaneously justifies oppression in the name of national unity equality and non discrimination and economic development International law plays a central role in the ideological making of the postcolonial state in relation to postcolonial boundaries the liberal individualist architecture of rights and the neoliberal economic vision of development In this process international law subjugates minority interests and in turn aggravates the problem of ethno nationalism Analysing the geneses of ethno nationalism in postcolonial states Mohammad Shahabuddin substantiates these arguments with in depth case studies on the Rohingya and the hill people of the Chittagong Hill Tracts against the historical backdrop of the minority question in Indian nationalist and constitutional discourse Shahabuddin also proposes alternative international law frameworks for minorities

Reconsidering REDD+ Julia Dehm, 2021-06-03 REDD operates to reorganise social relations and to establish new forms of global authority over forests in the Global South Tax Sovereignty and the Law in the Digital and Global Economy

Francesco Farri, 2020-09-27 This book discusses which is the most appropriate tax dimension to best manage the new horizons of the global and digital economy In this perspective the efficiency of the main models is examined and two fundamental proposals are put forth the first one aims at a coordination of the Destination Based approach with the role of some specific digital assets such as user data the second one is a framework for a possible futuristic tax phenomenon all internal to the world of the internet and not linked to traditional territorial States The compliance of these models with the constitutional principles that western democratic systems have affirmed over time in matters of taxation is then analyzed with particular regard to legal certainty consent to taxation and to the redistributive function of taxes A specific evaluation of the role of the European Union is carried out and the jurisprudence on financial interests of the Union and on State aids is analyzed and tackled in light of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union and of the tax sovereignty of member States The conclusion is that the model of the organization with a general political purpose from which modern States take their inspiration appears unfailing for a tax project that would focus on the good and the growth of the person and of the social aggregations in which everyone lives A model that therefore deserves to be safeguarded although with new methods and instruments starting from a Destination Based Asset Coordinated approach in the Third Millennium The book will be of interest to researchers and academics in international tax law constitutional law and in political science

Reality TV Jon Kraszewski, 2017-02-24 From early first wave programs such as Candid Camera An American Family and The Real World to the shows on our television screens and portable devices today reality television consistently takes us to cities such as New York Los Angeles and Boston to imagine the place of urbanity in American culture and society Jon Kraszewski offers the first extended account of this phenomenon as he makes the politics of urban space the center of his history and theory of reality television Kraszewski situates reality television in a larger economic transformation that started in the 1980s when America went from an industrial economy when cities were home to all classes to its post industrial economy as cities became key points in a web of global financing expelling all economic classes except the elite and the poor Reality television in the industrial era reworked social relationships based on class race and gender for liberatory purposes which resulted in an egalitarian ethos in the genre However reality television of the post industrial era attempts to convince viewers that cities still serve their interests even though most viewers find city life today economically untenable Each chapter uses a key theoretical concept from spatial theory such as power geometries diasporic nostalgia orientalism the imagination of social expulsions and the relationship between the country and the city to illuminate the way reality television engages this larger transformation of urban space in America

Toward a Living Architecture? Christina Cogdell, 2019-01-01 A bold and unprecedented look at a cutting edge movement in architecture Toward a Living Architecture is the first book length critique of the emerging field of generative architecture and its nexus with computation biology and complexity Starting from the assertion that we should take generative architects rhetoric of biology and sustainability seriously Christina Cogdell examines their claims from the standpoints of the sciences they draw on complex systems theory evolutionary theory genetics and epigenetics and synthetic biology She reveals significant disconnects while also pointing to approaches and projects with significant potential for further development Arguing that architectural design today often only masquerades as sustainable Cogdell demonstrates how the language of some cutting edge practitioners and educators can mislead students and clients into thinking they are getting something biological when they are not In a narrative that moves from the computational toward the biological and from current practice to visionary futures Cogdell uses life cycle analysis as a baseline for parsing the material energetic and pollution differences between different digital and biological design and construction approaches Contrary to green tech sustainability advocates she questions whether quartzite based silicon technologies and their reliance on rare earth metals as currently designed are sustainable for much longer challenging common projections of a computationally designed and manufactured future Moreover in critiquing contemporary architecture and science from a historical vantage point she reveals the similarities between eugenic design of the 1930s and the aims of some generative architects and engineering synthetic biologists today Each chapter addresses a current architectural school or program while also exploring a distinct aspect of the corresponding scientific language theory or practice No other book critiques generative architecture by evaluating its scientific rhetoric and disjunction from actual scientific theory and practice Based on the author's years of field research in architecture studios and biological labs this rare field building book does no less than definitively unsparingly explain the role of the natural sciences within contemporary architecture

Informal Market Worlds Peter Mörténböck, Helge Mooshammer, 2015 Bringing together imaginative architectural approaches with texts by key contemporary thinkers the two part Informal Market Worlds explores new ways to interrupt the dominant logics of neoliberal governance The Reader includes expert essays on urban informality bottom up economies and informal architectures as harbingers of social and political change Offering a global perspective on the conflicted realities of informal marketplaces from survival activities of the urban poor to transnational clandestine trade networks these analyses reveal how informality has become a political instrument in the struggles around global market integration

Losing Control? Saskia Sassen, 2015-02-10 Examining the rise of private transnational legal codes and supranational institutions such as the World Trade Organization and universal human rights covenants Saskia Sassen argues that sovereignty remains an important feature of the international system but that it is no longer confined to the nation state Yet a profound transformation is taking place a partial de nationalizing of national territory seen in such agreements as NAFTA and the European Union

Urbanization and Development, 2016 The analysis of urban development of the past twenty years presented in this maiden edition of the World Cities Report shows with compelling evidence that there are new forms of collaboration and cooperation planning governance finance and learning that can sustain positive change The Report unequivocally demonstrates that the current urbanization model is unsustainable in many respects It conveys a clear message that the pattern of urbanization needs to change in order to better respond to the challenges of our time to address issues such as inequality climate change informality insecurity and the unsustainable forms of urban expansion

ridden experience of homo economicus the pervasive and alienating marketization of all aspects of our lives A great deal of hope is being placed on the potential of social formations enabled by new technologies of connectivity and exchange Artists and cultural producers are at the forefront of testing the viability of transgressive actions such as coworking crowdfunding and open source provisions At the same time it is apparent that global capitalism is expanding into multipolar constellations of top down and bottom up economic governance In this volume the fourth in the series Visual Cultures as Helge Mooshammer and Peter Merten analyze the networked spaces of global informal markets the cultural frontiers of speculative investments and recent urban protests and discuss crucial shifts in the process of collective articulation within today's crowd economy Copublished with Goldsmiths University of London L'Année sociologique, 2018 The Faro Convention's Role in a Changing Society Council of Europe, 2021 Council of Europe action in the field of cultural heritage targets promoting diversity and dialogue through access to heritage to foster a sense of identity collective memory and mutual understanding within and between communities The year 2021 marks the 10th anniversary of the entry into force of the Framework Convention on the Value of Cultural Heritage for Society also known as the Faro Convention The present publication shows that what emerged back in 2005 as a truly innovative approach is still relevant today and can also have an impact on issues beyond its traditional realm This is illustrated through a set of articles that demonstrate the pertinence of the Faro Convention's approach to cultural heritage in addressing different aspects ranging from democratic participation to tourism rethinking The wide range of topics addressed and the numerous possibilities described by the various contributors suggest that the next ten years of the Faro Convention will be as challenging and rewarding as the decade that has elapsed since its entry into force Das Ende der Megamaschine Fabian Scheidler, 2015 Warum schreitet die ökologische Zerstörung des Planeten trotz unheiliger Klimagipfel ungebremst voran Warum hungern mehr Menschen als je zuvor auf der Erde obwohl noch nie so ungeheure Reichtümer angehäuft wurden wie heute Warum erweisen sich die globalen Eliten als unfähig die Richtung zu ändern obwohl ihr Kurs in einen planetaren Crash führt Der Berliner Autor und Journalist Fabian Scheidler legt in seinem Buch Das Ende der Megamaschine die Wurzeln der Zerstörungsfreiheit frei die heute die menschliche Zukunft infrage stellen In einer Spurensuche durch fünf Jahrtausende führt das Buch zu den Ursprüngen ökonomischer militärischer und ideologischer Macht Der Autor erzählt die Vorgeschichte und Genese des modernen Weltsystems das Mensch und Natur einer radikalen Ausbeutung unterwirft Dabei demontiert er Fortschrittsmythen der westlichen Zivilisation und zeigt wie die Logik der endlosen Geldvermehrung von Anfang an menschliche Gesellschaften und Ökosysteme verwüstet hat So entsteht eine faszinierende Gegengeschichte unserer Zivilisation Das Buch schöpft aus einer Vielzahl von Quellen von der Anthropologie und Geschichtswissenschaft über die Chaosforschung bis zur Populärkultur Es verbindet eingefahrene Sichtweisen indem es Verbindungen quer durch Zeiten Rituale und Denktraditionen herstellt Die Kenntnis der historischen Zusammenhänge bildet die Grundlage dafür neue Möglichkeiten für eine notwendige zivilisatorische Wende zu entdecken Wer verstehen will warum
