Exploring Humanity Intercultural Perspectives On Humanism Reflections On Inhumanity:

Exploring Humanity Mihai Spariosu, Jörn Rüsen, Sorin Antohi, Chun-Chieh Huang, 2012 Exploring Humanity Mihai I. Spariosu, Jörn Rüsen, 2012-09-11 The old humanistic model aiming at universalism ecumenism and the globalization of various Western systems of values and beliefs is no longer adequate even if it pleads for an ever wider inclusion of other cultural perspectives and for intercultural dialogue In contrast it would be wise to retain a number of its assumptions and practices which it incidentally shares with humanistic models outside the Western world We must now reconsider and remap it in terms of a larger global reference frame This anthology does just that thus contributing to a new field of study and practice that could be called intercultural humanism Humanism in Intercultural Perspective Henner Laass, Univ. Prof. Dr. Dr.h.c.mult., 2015-07-15 This book is a breakthrough in illuminating humanism For the first time it is presented in an intercultural perspective It introduces Chinese Indian African Islamic and Western traditions into the intercultural discussion about basic issues of understanding the human world By this means it recognizes different disciplinary perspectives history philosophy as well as religious literary and gender studies Special emphasis is put on the controversial relationship between humanism and religion This complex network of argumentations is an answer to the challenge of cultural orientation at the age of globalization Humanism is brought to life as a synthesis of transcultural values and a mutual and critical recognition of cultural differences Approaching Humankind Jörn Rüsen, 2013 A fascinating spectrum of answers to the fundamental question what it means to be a human being Humanism: Foundations, Diversities, Developments Jörn Rüsen, 2021-04-25 The book describes humanism in a systematic and historical perspective It analyzes its manifestation and function in cultural studies and its role in the present Within the book special attention is given to the intention of contemporary humanism to overcome ethno centric elements in the cultural orientation of contemporary living conditions and to develop humane dimensions of this orientation This is linked to a fundamental critique of the current post human self understanding of the humanities Furthermore the intercultural aspect in the understanding of humanism is emphasized for non Western cultures also have their own humanistic traditions Two further aspects are also addressed the Holocaust as the most radical challenge to humanistic thinking and the relationship of humanism to nature Sitting at the intersection of history and philosophy the book is perfect for those exploring humanism from an historical perspective The Concept of Humanity in an Age of Globalization Longxi Zhang, 2012 Rethinking humanity as a concept in our age of globalization and its relevance to the social and political reality of our times are the topic of this book It calls for the reclaiming of humanism as an effective response to the conflict turmoil and violence we witness in the world today Concepts of humanity and humanism have become suspect of naivete at best and guilty of bad faith and repressive ideologies at worst Yet hope for improvement is incorrigibly human the concept of humanity still holds enormous attraction to intellectuals and humanistic scholars At the same time it is important to realize that the critique of humanism is very much based on and limited to Western social and historical experience To re conceptualize humanity and humanism from a truly global perspective will help in reclaiming a more inclusive kind of humanism In this sense a cross cultural perspective is important for reclaiming humanism in our age of globalization The present volume is the result of such an effort The diversity of the authors views speaks eloquently to the complexity of the concept of humanity or what constitutes the distinctly human and therefore the necessity to have an in depth dialogue on the fate of humanity

Becoming Human Paul

Sheehan,2003-07-30 The postmodern condition has delivered us into a world where our humanity can no longer be taken for granted Whether his place is ceded to nature or technology man is no longer the measure of all things rather he is locked into processes in which the only permanence is change Becoming Human offers a sustained engagement with these and other paradoxes about human being and its nature in the 21st century world Beginning with the notion that the human is not an immutable given but rather an ever changing entity this collection of essays considers our multifarious condition through the perspective of a variety of fields including philosophy sociology literature and film studies In this book the authors make coherent and accessible a sprawling field The diversity of writers and approaches challenges current thinking about humanity providing material for future scholars and researchers and prompting us to ponder these questions more deeply while at the same time offering the reader a comprehensive intelligible survey of recent inquiries into a potentially bewildering field

Humanism

Carole McGranahan,2018-11-30 Anthropology has long centered on the human taking human life as a main focus and exploring multiple ways to be human In recent years however we have also seen the rise of the idea of the Anthropocene and emerging debates on the place of the post human Can and should the human still occupy a privileged position in a universe composed of the nonhuman the other than human the inhuman and the trans human Reckoning with concepts practices and relations across these categories requires that we move beyond classical understandings of humanism to replace them with a contemporary reworking of the possibilities and limits of anthropological humanism This timely book is the product of the second Annual Debate of Anthropological Keywords a collaborative project between HAU the American Ethnological Society and L Homme The aim of the debate is to reflect critically on keywords and terms that play a pivotal and timely role in discussions of different cultures and societies This volume brings together leading thinkers to reflect anew on humanism and the anthropological project with insightful contributions from Cl o Carastro Didier Fassin Hugh Gusterson Saba Mahmood Carole McGranahan Joel Robbins Danilyn Rutherford and Lucy Suchman

Reflections on the Posthuman in International Relations Matt Harker,2017 Humanism and Muslim Culture

Stefan Reichmuth,Jörn Rüsen,Aladdin Sarhan,2012-03-07 The papers of this volume move from the abstract scheme of an intercultural humanism of the future to concrete cultural expressions of humanism within the Muslim culture of different times up to the present They concentrate on three issues The first is related to contemporary attempts to develop a humanist and historical hermeneutics of the Qur an and of Islamic history The second discusses the humanist heritage and the humanitarian trends of Muslim religious and literary culture The third highlights the discussion on Humanism and Islam as a topic within European identity politics covering the role of this discussion for the history of Islamic Studies in Europe and America and the contemporary polemics around Islam in the Netherlands Taken together the contributions of the volume attempt to provide the groundwork for an assessment of the roots and prospects of an intercultural humanism with respect to the Muslim world

War on the Human Theodora Tsimpouki, Konstantinos Blatanis, Rachele Dini, 2017 The essays in this collection explore the question of the human both as a contested concept and as it relates to and functions within the wider global conjuncture The authors explore the theoretical underpinnings of the term human inviting the reader to reflect upon the contemporary human condition to identify opportunities and threats in the changes ahead and to determine what aspects of our species we should abandon or strive to maintain The volume approaches these ideas from a myriad of perspectives but the authors are united in their abstention from rejecting humanism outright or indeed fully endorsing posthumanism's teleological narrative of accelerated progress and perfectability Instead the authors argue that the term human itself is better understood as a concept perpetually undergoing revision and is necessarily subject to scrutiny The contributors here are thus concerned with investigating the following questions What does it mean to be human or to have a self What is the current place or status of the human in the contemporary world As technology is increasingly used to modify our bodies and minds to what extent should we alter and how can we improve our very understanding of human nature The authors contend that literature is the art form best placed to answer these questions In its dynamism and discursiveness literature has the capacity to both reflect dominant discourses and ideologies as well as to generate and even anticipate social change to critique and refine conventional ideas and existing cultural modes and to envision new possibilities for the future The human and its literary representation in other words are inherently intertwined
