Christian Kosel,Tina Seidel ,Christian Hartmann,Ann-Sophie Grub,2024-07-25 A classroom full of students can be overwhelming for teachers It is critical that teachers are able to filter and meaningfully interpret the relevant information in this complex scenario Much of this filtering and interpretation occurs through selective visual perception Over the last decade a rapidly growing number of studies in empirical educational research used eye tracking to investigate teachers selective visual perceptual processes in the classroom Theoretically visual attention and perception are often conceptualized as knowledge based noticing coupled with knowledge based reasoning about what is visually perceived Recent eye tracking studies have shown that experienced teachers in particular show improved selective attention of classroom events through faster detection of relevant information and improved monitoring of learning relevant situations Researchers agree that a critical driver of selective attention processes is the professional knowledge declarative procedural and metacognitive of experienced teachers which controls selective perceptual processes in a top down process The findings are significant and provide important insights for research on teacher professionalization The Psychology of Design Rajeev Batra,Colleen Seifert,Diann Brei,2015-07-24 Design plays an increasingly larger role today in creating consumer desire for products and liking for commercial messages However the psychological processes involved are only partially understood In addition design is inherently interdisciplinary involving among others important elements of aesthetics anthropology brand strategy creativity design science engineering graphic design industrial design marketing material science product design and several areas within psychology While researchers and practitioners in all of these fields seek to learn more about how and why good design works its magic they may benefit from each other s work The chapters in this edited book bring together organizing frameworks and reviews of the relevant literatures from many of these contributing disciplines along with recent empirical work They cover relevant areas such as embodied cognition processing fluency experiential marketing sensory marketing visual aesthetics and other research streams related to the impact of design on consumers Importantly the primary focus of these chapters is not on product design that creates functional value for the targeted consumer but rather on how design can create the kind of emotional experiential hedonic and sensory appeal that results in attracting consumers Each chapter concludes with Implications for a theory of design as well as for designers
