Double Exposure Fear On The Fox River:

Double Exposure Richard Gove, 2015-05-18 Violent crime is unusual in 1960s Montgomery Illinois a small industrial village just outside of Chicago If something illegal occurs the village s size limits the number of suspects police chief John Rively must consider When the murder of a nineteen year old girl rocks normally quiet Montgomery Rively quickly realizes this isn t an ordinary case Although a suspect was seen with the victim before her death none of Montgomery s residents seem to know who he is Even the reason for death is unclear As Rively and his deputy Makay investigate a series of suspicious events strike the village all pointing toward a clever and careful killer who delights in causing fear and unrest Faced with frustration at every turn Rively begins to doubt his own judgement A burgeoning relationship provides Rively with some relief from the pressure of the investigation but that pleasure turns to fear when it becomes apparent the killer has been watching Rively closely and has his sights set on the police chief s romantic interest Now Rively finds himself personally involved in one of the most puzzling and murderous cases of his career If he fails he ll lose so much more than an arrest

Showmen's Motion Picture Trade Review ,1945 Paper Valley P. David Allen II, Susan Campbell, 2023-04-11 The compelling true story of a hard fought environmental win set in motion by a tenacious government scientist and an unrelenting journalist resulting in the polluting companies paying for the 1 billion 20 year cleanup Booklist raves Paper Valley is a compelling human interest tale on par with Erin Brockovich and Jonathan Harr s A Civil Action A 2024 selection by the Sierra Club Wisconsin Chapter Book Club Winner Midwest Book Award When government scientist David Allen arrived at his new jobsite in the 1990s the Fox River near Wisconsin s Green Bay was dominated by hulking paper mills noxious industrial odors and widespread ecological damage Confronted by his lack of resources to force the politically powerful Paper Valley polluters to fix their mess Allen proceeds against all bureaucratic odds in building a 1 billion case against the paper company bosses Two small but vital players Allen along with journalist Susan Campbell were relentless in bringing the case to the public at the time They do so again in this book an act of radical transparency to uncover the intrigue that nearly blocked the cleanup behind the scenes at US Fish and Wildlife Wisconsin s Department of Natural Resources and the US Environmental Protection Agency In a rare and major environmental win the Fox River became the site of the largest polychlorinated biphenyls cleanup in history paid for by the paper companies rather than taxpayers to the tune of 1.3 billion and completed in 2020 This true story of struggle perseverance and success inspires hope for environmentalists who strive to restore natural landscapes The detailed account given in this book is meant to inspire and offer practical knowledge and solutions for those fighting similar opponents of environmental cleanup and restoration Allen and Campbell eloquently outline the problematic bureaucracy involved in environmental cleanup efforts and reveal tactics to compel corporate entities who would dodge accountability for decades worth of contamination Anna Fox Val Williams, Anna Fox, 2007 This retrospective features selections from all of Fox s major projects Beginning with her earliest projects Basingstoke Work

Stations and Friendly Fire each a critical exploration of the social make up and behaviour of Thatcher's Britain in the 1980s the book charts her progress through more personal diaristic bodies of work including Hewitt Road Coackroach Diary and My Mother's Cupboards and My Father's Words More recent projects Country Girls and Pictures of Linda chronicle Fox's relationship with the musicians Alison Goldfrapp and Linda Lunus through a series of intimate playful and performative portraits

Questions of Tradition Mark Salber Phillips, Mark Phillips, Gordon J. Schochet, 2004-01-01 Tradition is a central concern for a wide range of academic disciplines interested in problems of transmitting culture across generations Yet the concept itself has received remarkably little analysis A substantial literature has grown up around the notion of invented tradition but no clear concept of tradition is to be found in these writings since the very notion of invented tradition presupposes a prior concept of tradition and is empty without one this debunking usage has done as much to obscure the idea as to clarify it In the absence of a shared concept the various disciplines have created their own vocabularies to address the subject Useful as they are these specialized vocabularies of which the best known include hybridity canonicity diaspora paradigm and contact zones separate the disciplines and therefore necessarily create only a collection of parochial and disjointed approaches Until now there has been no concerted attempt to put the various disciplines in conversation with one another around the problem of tradition Combining discussions of the idea of tradition by major scholars from a variety of disciplines with synoptic synthesizing essays Questions of Tradition will initiate a renewal of interest in this vital subject

Travelling Concepts in the Humanities Mieke Bal, 2002-11-02 Attempting to bridge the gap between specialised scholarship in the humanistic disciplines and an interdisciplinary project of cultural analysis Mieke Bal has written an intellectual travel guide that charts the course beyond cultural studies As with any guide it can be used in a number of ways and the reader can follow or willfully ignore any of the paths it maps or signposts Bal's focus for this book is the idea that interdisciplinarity in the humanities necessary exciting serious must seek its heuristic and methodological basis in concepts rather than its methods Concepts are not grids to put over an object The counterpart of any given concept is the cultural text or work or thing that constitutes the object of analysis No concept is meaningful for cultural analysis unless it helps us to understand the object better on its own terms Bal offers the reader a sustained theoretical reflection on how to do cultural analysis through a tentative practice of doing just that This offers a concrete practice to theoretical constructs and allows the proposed method more accessibility Please note illustrations have been removed from the ebook at the request of the rightsholder
