Earth Science Regents Exams June 2014:

Slow Burn R. Jisung Park, 2025-07-29 How the subtle but significant consequences of a hotter planet have already begun from lower test scores to higher crime rates and how we might tackle them today It's hard not to feel anxious about the problem of climate change especially if we think of it as an impending planetary catastrophe In Slow Burn R Jisung Park encourages us to view climate change through a different lens one that focuses less on the possibility of mass climate extinction in a theoretical future and more on the everyday implications of climate change here and now Drawing on a wealth of new data and cutting edge economics Park shows how climate change headlines often miss some of the most important costs When wildfires blaze what happens to people downwind of the smoke When natural disasters destroy buildings and bridges what happens to educational outcomes Park explains how climate change operates as the silent accumulation of a thousand tiny conflagrations imperceptibly elevated health risks spread across billions of people pennies off the dollar of productivity fewer opportunities for upward mobility By investigating how the physical phenomenon of climate change interacts with social and economic institutions Park illustrates how climate change already affects everyone and may act as an amplifier of inequality Wealthier households and corporations may adapt quickly but without targeted interventions less advantaged communities may not Viewing climate change as a slow and unequal burn comes with an important silver lining It puts dollars and cents behind the case for aggressive emissions cuts and helps identify concrete steps that can be taken to better manage its adverse effects We can begin to overcome our climate anxiety Park shows us when we begin to tackle these problems locally Excellence Through Equity Alan M. Blankstein, Pedro Noguera, Lorena Kelly, 2016-02-26 Excellence Through Equity is an inspiring look at how real world educators are creating schools where all students are able to thrive In these schools educators understand that equity is not about treating all children the same They are deeply committed to ensuring that each student receives what he or she individually needs to develop their full potential and succeed To help educators with what can at times be a difficult and challenging journey Blankstein and Noguera frame the book with five guiding principles of Courageous Leadership Getting to your core Making organizational meaning Ensuring constancy and consistency of purpose Facing the facts and your fears Building sustainable relationships They further emphasize that the practices are grounded in three important areas of research that are too often disregarded 1 child development 2 neuroscience and 3 environmental influences on child development and learning You'll hear from Carol Corbett Burris Michael Fullan Marcus J Newsome Paul Reville Susan Szachowicz and other bold practitioners and visionary thinkers who share compelling and actionable ideas strategies and experiences for closing the achievement gap in your classrooms and school Ensuring that all students receive an education that cultivates their talents and potential is in all our common interest As Andy Hargreaves writes in the coda The opportunity for all Americans is to articulate and believe in an inspiring vision of educational change that is about what the next generation of America and Americans should become not about a target or ranking that the nation should attain From the Foreword by Archbishop Desmond Tutu Letting go of a system of winners and losers in favor of what is proposed in this book is a courageous leap forward that we all must take together Let this bold practical book be a guide and may you travel into this new exciting vista in which every child can succeed Books in
