Earthed In Hope Dying Death And Funerals A Pakeha Anglican Perspective:

Earthed in Hope Alister Graeme Hendery, 2014 Earthed in Hope will enrich the funeral ministry both of those in the Anglican tradition and also those from other Churches It is a valuable resource for funeral celebrants counsellors and anyone supporting the bereaved and dying Hendery reflects on and responds to spiritual theological liturgical pastoral and cultural questions and offers practical suggestions and insights that will be helpful to those involved in taking funerals and caring for the bereaved and the dying Publisher s description

Earthed in Hope Alister G. Hendery, 2014 The Grief Walk Alister G. Hendery, 2024-05-09 This practical book is for people who are grieving for people who want to support them as they undertake the painful journey of grief and for anyone who wants to reflect on their own experiences of loss When Alister asked Isobel whose husband had died a few years before what would have helped her most then her response was immediate Someone who would walk with me Not people who would talk at me and give me answers but simply listen to me and walk with me The grief walk Grieving and loss are universal experiences but how you experience grief is unique to you In his ministry Alister has found that models of the stages of grief are unhelpful as is the idea of closure Instead he gives you permission to work through your grief in the ways and at the times that are helpful to you Alister explores disenfranchised grief that occurs when we are denied the right to grieve and our loss isn t recognised Our lives are marked by countless losses and we all carry grief about many losses in our life If we embrace our grief we can journey on to something new and find fresh hope Praise for The Grief Walk The Grief Walk has a freshness and honesty about grief beginning with its imaginative title and sustained until the final affirmation of hope We all experience loss and grief in our lives But as Hendery writes until we name and acknowledge a loss and recognise that we have a right to grieve we are unable to come to terms with it He emphasises that grief doesn t follow a predetermined path and nor can we close it off like a tap He describes a perceived end process of closure as psychobabble While grief may not be permanently disabling we learn to encompass it This is not the same as closure Grief may find expression in different physical and emotional symptoms and we can t expect religious faith to provide a magical answer Finding someone who listens and understands who in a sense personifies the presence of God can help us with the grief journey The Grief Walk confronts the idea that grief is momentary or experienced in clearly defined stages and points to a hope This book is a gift for all who grieve or who walk with those who grieve John Meredith in Tui Motu Magazine Issue 253 October 2020 27 Far too often people present grieving as a one way process with well defined stages concluding with something they call closure I strongly reject such an extremely unhelpful model Alister does also he is clear that your grieving is unique to you Rev d Bosco Peters on Liturgy co nz This book will read you as you are reading it It is a book you will pick up and put down and pick up and put down as you find yourself walking again through parts of your life maybe unexpectedly rediscovering boggy patches you had forgotten or not realised are still painful There is ancient wisdom here alongside modern psychology There is gentleness and there is a reality faced that grief is universal painful and not always an easy walk But beware As I read Alister s words I found myself thinking lamenting crying and laughing I surprised myself with the depth of some of what rose to the surface for me Ancient griefs recent disappointments and the ambivalent feelings that came like fish to breathe the air again From the Foreword by The Rev d Rob Ferguson focus of his ministry for the past 40 years He has served as a parish priest educator counsellor and funeral celebrant These days as well as exploring with others what loss and grief can mean for us he ministers with faith communities in times of change He is the author of Earthed in Hope Dying Death and Funerals also from Philip Garside Publishing Ltd Anglican Confirmation 1945-2000 Phillip Tovey, 2025-06-27 The focus of this book is the theology liturgy and practice of Anglican Confirmation from 1945 to 2000 It is the third book in a series on Anglican Confirmation The first chapters look at confirmation on a global and ecumenical level How have questions about the place and performance of confirmation changed Then there is a series of case studies from North America Europe and the wider world Two chapters are on the theology and practice of the Church of England Attention is given to liturgical reform theological discussion and practice including statistics In some chapters there are case studies of individual dioceses or bishops to give snapshots of theology in action This book uses innovative visualization techniques to present data and uses textual network analysis to map the interrelationships of provinces at a liturgical level The ecumenical baptismal unity agenda from Vatican 2 and the World Council of Churches underlies the theological critique This will be of great value to those in liturgical studies church history Anglican studies and to all bishops and clergy involved in confirmation Faithful Living, Faithful Dying End of Life Task Force of the Standing Commission on National Concerns, 2000-02 An important examination of the theological spiritual and ethical issues surrounding death At the end of a life of faithfulness comes our dying To approach it as faithfully as we have our living calls for some serious forethought Because one of the simplest facts of life that we all die seems like the most complicated thing we do Not only have advances in medical technology saved lives but they also have prolonged death and raise a number ethical moral social and theological issues How far should we go to sustain life Is it right to withdraw artificial feeding from the dying Is it wrong to end the lives of those in pain No matter who we are dealing with these sorts of choices near the end of life is difficult to do on our own Faithful Living Faithful Dying Anglican Reflections on End of Life Care brings together the wisdom of a task force created by the 72nd General Convention of the Episcopal Church to study what faithful living and faithful dying mean today The task force s reflections published for the first time in this book assist individuals congregations and the Church as a whole to disentangle the thicket of ethical theological pastoral and policy concerns

Lay Me in God's Good Earth Kent Burreson, Beth Hoeltke, 2024-08-20 Current burial practices in the West fail to confront us with the reality of death and make it harder to grieve properly Burreson and Hoeltke argue that natural burial offers a more accurate picture of Christian hope and resurrection This immensely practical guide is also an application of the hope of the resurrection to those grieving Path of Shadows, Flickering Light Cordell Strug, 2021-03-24 This is one pastor s story of the touch of death on life how he first learned of it and what it brings upon us how he met its coming to those he served as pastor and how he awaits its coming to him as he ages The book is marked by shifting perspectives beginning with a child experiencing the deaths of others and ending with an elderly person acutely aware of frailty and loss But those common stages of life are themselves seen from the perspective of a Christian pastor who served in older communities The heart of the book is a ground level description of how a working pastor deals with the approach of death and the shaping of the funeral experience another perspective is provided by some of the sermons given in the wake of the deaths described The book ends with a brief epilogue continuing these meditations during the coronavirus outbreak pondering the power death has to isolate and obsess us both physically and spiritually As She Is Dying Kevin Cain,2019-01-08 Ask any Appalachian the question When is Appalachia most beautiful Every Appalachian will answer During autumn when the leaves of Appalachia s trees are dying Appalachians believe the beauty of their landscape is almost heaven With the honor of officiating nearly 1000 funerals Pastor Kevin Cain offers life in the midst of death In As She Is Dying Kevin Cain writes I have given my life to bring hope to a people who have little reason to hope Maybe Appalachians have allowed our hills majesty and grandeur to blind us from coal dust and addiction Yet I do see hope I see hope in what is dying I see hope in what is dead I see hope in what remains Yes death has the keen ability to either clear up cover up or stir up Still sometimes we must descend in order to turn into the clouds As She Is Dying is a book about death that offers stories of life In these pages you will find a little bit of wisdom some stories of hope and the eulogizing words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart which I trust have been acceptable in the sight of my strength and my Redeemer Somehow and somewhere in death hope must be discovered Maybe through the literal metaphor of Appalachians deaths you can see life Some were reconciled long before their deaths Some were reconciled just prior to their deaths And others were reconciled in the midst of death There is hope for all hope s breath even in death Matter of Life and Death Charles Hoffacker,2003-04-25 With the sensitivity born of time and experience Charles Hoffacker presents an unusually warm and caring approach to preaching at a pivotal transition in human life one which goes to the very heart of the Good News of Jesus Christ Hoffacker teaches the reader whether a seasoned preacher or a novice homilist to find the key to unlocking the mystery of Jesus promise of eternal life in a mortal life now ended

Ending Well James C. Berg,1998 The End of Hope--the Beginning Pamela R. McCarroll,2014 Pamela R McCarroll s central metaphor waiting at the foot of the cross jumps off the page and comes to life that is exactly what chaplains supervisors and ministers do when they engage in care with sufferers Her theological case studies represent one of the best examples in print of an inductive method the one that chaplains supervisors students and parish minsters actually use in practice While we have many good books which demonstrate the theory of pastoral care and use examples and vignettes in an illustrative manner we have few that so directly demonstrate pastoral theological method while teaching students method and content of theology that will serve them in their pastoral care oriented work Jacket Living Hope: A Practical Theology of Hope for the Dying Russell Herbert,2020-05-19 Living Hope explores the meaning of Christian hope its theology and psychology It reflects on the sources of hope and wrestles with the concern for a hope that is not just a set of clich s but which is engaging and realistic suggesting practical ways of nurturing hope in those we care for Russell Herbert argues that resurrection is central to Christian hope drawing on the insights of psychology nursing science and Jurgen Moltmann's theology of hope The book integrates theological reflection with a number of case studies and practical suggestions for clergy and pastoral carers Living & Dying Gladys Hunt,1982 Death Our Future Peter C. Jupp,2008 Death our Future is essential reading for everyone involved in Christian ministry to dying dead or bereaved people in the UK A range of distinguished authors explore issues of Christian ministry around death assess developments over the last decade and present them in ways that will engage inform and equip Christians for facing dying death bereavement and memorialization Five sections address the context of Christian funeral ministry today modern patterns of death and bereavement the theology of death and of disposal contemporary issues in burial and cremation funeral liturgies and distinctive regional perspectives Living to Die, Dying to Live P. N. Wachege,2005 Living Hope Russell G. Herbert,2006 Living Hope reflects on the meaning of Christian hope and suggests how it might be nurtured in those we care for The author argues that resurrection is central to Christian hope drawing on the insights of psychology nursing science and Jurgen Moltmann's theology of hope The Minister and Grief Robert Wilson Bailey,1976 The Christian Hope Martin Down,2016-06-09 Dying and Grieving Alan Billings,2002 Most funerals in Britain continue to be conducted according to the rites of one or other of the Christian churches This work seeks to give those engaged in the pastoral ministry two things a sense of how the nature of the funeral service has changed and some pointers to good practice today Baptismal Ecclesiology and the Order of Christian Funerals Stephen S. Wilbricht, csc,2019-06-14 Throughout this e book Fr Stephen S Wilbricht csc emphasizes the link between Baptism and death assisting Christians in grasping who we are called to be in this life as disciples and who we are promised to become in eternal life as saints As the author points out the centrality of baptismal identity to the funeral liturgy he makes apparent that the union established at Baptism continues until all reach Christ Such an appreciation for life in the Body of Christ will help the community recognize both their responsibilities at the death of a member and the union that remains with that member as all journey to the divine Wilbricht explores the Church's theology of Baptism and death and provides pastoral suggestions that will encourage communities to carry out their commitment to care for the grieving and bury the dead
