Ecosystem Services From Agriculture And Agroforestry Measurement And Payment:

Ecosystem Services from Agriculture and Agroforestry Bruno Rapidel, 2011 Agricultural systems are no longer evaluated solely on the basis of the food they provide but also on their capacity to limit impacts on the environment such as soil conservation water quality and biodiversity conservation as well as their contribution to mitigating and adapting to climate change In order to cope with these multiple service functions they must internalize the costs and benefits of their environmental impact Payments for ecosystem services are hoped to encourage and promote sustainable practices via financial incentives The authors show that while the principle is straightforward the practice is much more complicated Whereas scenic beauty and protection of water sources provide benefits to the local population carbon sequestration and biodiversity conservation can be considered international public goods rendering potential payment schemes more complex Few examples exist where national or international bodies have been able to set up viable mechanisms that compensate agricultural systems for the environmental services they provide However this book provides several examples of successful programs and aims to transfer them to other regions of the world The authors show that a product can be sold if it is clearly quantified there exists a means to determine the service s values and there is a willing buyer The first two sections of the book present methodological issues related to the quantification and marketing of ecosystem services from agriculture including agroforestry The third and final section presents case studies of practical payments for ecosystem services and experiences in Central and South America and draws some lessons learnt for effective and sustainable development of ecosystem services compensation mechanisms Encyclopedia of Agriculture and Food Systems Neal K. Agri-chains Estelle Biénabe, Alain Rival, Denis Loeillet, 2017-02-20 This book links tropical agri chain dynamics with which CIRAD and AFD have been involved for decades to that of sustainable development Increased environmental and social concerns urge agri chain actors and development practitioners to design innovations and public and private actors to invent regulations in connection with agri chains to improve sustainability With a view to contributing towards implementing the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs this book examines the different roles of agri chains as vectors of development as spaces of innovation as objects of evaluation and as arenas of regulation It builds upon the findings and experiences of CIRAD and its researchers together with their Southern partners and of AFD and its officers Linking agricultural production with the other economic sectors agri chains are key spaces where local and global challenges to sustainability meet and where local and global actors experiment interlinked or common solutions Sustainability Science: Field Methods and Exercises Miguel Esteban, Tomohiro Akiyama, Chiahsein Chen, Izumi Ikeda, Takashi Mino, 2016-07-29 This book builds up on the experience and lessons learnt by academics at the Graduate Program in Sustainability Science Global Leadership Initiative GPSS GLI at the University of Tokyo A number of scholars in the new field of sustainability science describe how field methods and exercises are carried out in this discipline together with the theoretical basis for such exercises Case studies of various countries around the world where these exercises are carried out are showcased emphasizing the various socio economic considerations and problems facing humanity and possible ways forward to build more sustainable and resilient societies The final objective is to enrich the field of sustainability science by describing the novel aspects used in the field exercises carried out by practitioners of this cross disciplinary field Forests and Rural Development Jürgen Pretzsch, Dietrich Darr, Holm Uibrig, Eckhard Auch, 2014-01-21 This book provides an overview of the complex challenges and opportunities related to forest based rural development in the tropics and subtropics Applying a socio ecological perspective the book traces the changing paradigms of forestry in rural development throughout history summarizes the major aspects of the rural development challenge in forest areas and documents innovative approaches in fields such as land utilization technology and organizational development rural advisory services financing mechanisms participative planning and forest governance It brings together scholars and practitioners dealing with the topics from various theoretical and practical angles Calling for an approach that carefully balances market forces with government intervention the book shows that forests in rural areas have the potential to provide a solid foundation for a green global economy Sustainable Agriculture Reviews 28 Sabrina Gaba, Barbara Smith, Eric Lichtfouse, 2018-05-16 This book presents ecological principles and applications of managing biodiversity in agriculture to decrease pesticide use and produce safe food Major topics include ecosystem services biological pest control conservation agriculture drought stress and soil biodiversity carbon and fertilisation Sustainable Cacao Cultivation in Latin America Luz Cecilia García, Naga Raju Maddela, Freddy Zambrano Gavilanes, Carolina Aguilar Duarte, 2024-12-27 This book examines cacao cultivation with a view to improving the sustainable management and production of this crop Theobroma cacao is an important species originating in the Ecuadorian Amazon and its product chocolate is consumed worldwide Cacao cultivation is an industry supporting over ten million people and so it is vitally important in this changing climate that the species is properly and sustainably managed and cultivated This book brings together a wide range of experts from across the globe to examine cacao cultivation from the basic aspects of reproduction genetic improvement nutrition and pest management to agroforestry industrialization and marketing in a global food system Case studies are drawn from across Latin America but the research reflects the nature of a crop that is cultivated in over 60 countries and processed manufactured and consumed worldwide This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of agronomy sustainable agriculture and crop science Saffron Alireza Koocheki, Mohammad Khajeh-Hosseini, 2020-01-16

The State of Food and Agriculture 2007 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2007 International food aid has rightly been credited with saving millions of lives and is often the only thing that stands between vulnerable people and death However it was a serious obstacle in the Doha Round of multilateral trade negotiations and has been sharply criticised as a donor driven response that creates dependency on the part of recipients and undermines local agricultural producers and traders upon whom sustainable food security depends This issue of the State of Food and Agriculture report examines the issues and controversies surrounding international food aid particularly in crisis situations It considers the ways in which food aid can support sustainable improvements in food security in order to preserve its essential humanitarian role whilst minimising the possibility of harmful secondary impacts Agroforestry and Ecosystem Services Ranjith P. Udawatta, Shibu Jose, 2021-10-22 This book is a state of the art compilation of the latest information on ecosystem services of agroforestry The last two decades have seen a surge in literature on the ecosystem services of sustainable agriculture practices including that of agroforestry however compilation and synthesis of such information from agroforestry have been limited This book fills that void by bringing in a number of experts from around the world In addition to presenting the multiple dimensions of ecosystem services provided by major agroforestry practices the book also offers case studies from both tropical and temperate regions of the world Information from this book can be used to design land management practices for climate change mitigation ecosystem benefits agricultural productivity and sustainability and for survival and profitability of family farms and to conserve biodiversity While synthesizing information of the biophysical aspects of ecosystem services the book also outlines the socioeconomic and policy dimensions including appropriate incentive models to enhance adoption of agroforestry so that society at large can enjoy these important benefits Journal of Soil and Water Conservation ,2015 Vol 25 no 1 contains the society s Lincoln Chapter s Resource conservation glossary

A Gateway to Payments for Ecosystem Services D. Huberman,2009 Agroforestry-Based Ecosystem Services Meine Van Noordwijk,2021-10-25 As a dynamic interface between agriculture and forestry agroforestry has only recently been formally recognized as a relevant part of land use with trees outside forest in important parts of the world but not everywhere yet The Sustainable Development Goals have called attention to the need for the multifunctionality of landscapes that simultaneously contribute to multiple goals In the UN decade of landscape restoration as well as in response to the climate change urgency and biodiversity extinction crisis an increase in global tree cover is widely seen as desirable but its management by farmers or forest managers remains contested Agroforestry research relates tree soil crop livestock interactions at the plot level with landscape level analysis of social ecological systems and efforts to transcend the historical dichotomy between forest and agriculture as separate policy domains An ecosystem services perspective quantifies land productivity flows of water net greenhouse gas emissions and biodiversity conservation and combines an actor perspective farmer landscape manager with that of downstream stakeholders in the same watershed ecologically conscious consumers elsewhere global citizens and higher level regulators designing land use policies and spatial zoning Freshwater and Welfare Fragility Society for Experimental Biology (Great Britain). Meeting,2003 Exploring the Opportunities for Agroforestry in Changing Rural Landscapes ,1999 Agrindex ,1995 State of the World's Forests 2014 Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO),2014 Across the world forests trees on farms and agroforestry systems play a crucial role in the livelihoods of rural people by providing employment energy nutritious foods and a wide range of other goods and ecosystem services They have tremendous potential to contribute to sustainable development and to a greener economy Yet clear evidence of this has been lacking This evidence is critical to inform policies on forest management and use and to ensure that the benefits from forests are recognized in the post 2015 development agenda not only with respect to the environment but also for their contributions to broader social issues This edition of FAO s State of the World s Forests report SOFO 2014 addresses this knowledge gap by systematically gathering and analyzing available data on forests contributions to people's livelihoods food health shelter and energy needs Crucially the report also suggests how information might be improved and policies adjusted so that the socioeconomic benefits from forests can be enhanced in the future
