First Century Israel Matthias Henze, 2011 The Syriac Apocalypse of Baruch or Second Baruch is a Jewish work of the late first century C E written in Israel in the aftermath of the Jewish War against Rome It is part of a larger body of post 70 C E Jewish literature The authors of these works had a difficult charge They needed to re imagine Judaism and its central symbols take count of a thriving Diaspora and articulate how Jewish life was to be lived from then on without the benefit of a temple Written at a time of religious reconstruction and mental reorientation Second Baruch occupies a unique place in the history of early Jewish thought In this highly original work the author of Second Baruch developed an apocalyptic program that was intended for post 70 C E Judaism at large and not for a small dissident community only The program incorporates various theological strands chief among them the Deuteronomic promise of a prosperous and long life for those keeping the Torah and the apocalyptic promise of a new heaven and a new earth In this book Matthias Henze offers a close reading of some of the central passages in Second Baruch exposes its main themes explains the apocalyptic program it advocates draws some parallels with other texts Jewish and Christian and locates Second Baruch s intellectual place in the rugged terrain of post 70 C E Jewish literature and thought For modern readers interested in Judaism of the late Second Temple period in the Jewish world from which early Christianity emerged and in the origins of rabbinic Judaism Second Baruch is an invaluable source

Kelle, Frank Ritzel Ames, 2008 Paperback edition is available from the Society of Biblical Literature www.sbl-site.org The Pastor Philip Leroy Culbertson, Arthur Bradford Shippee, 1990 Patristic theology is primarily pastoral Yet often the study of writings from the first six centuries of the church is pursued in ways that make the polemical philosophical and political aspects stand out But if one reads around those texts that are profiled in these ways the pastoral concerns will emerge Even contemporary interests in social economic and deconstructionist approaches locate much of the data for their questions within or near texts that also can be looked at for the descriptions of shepherding the flock Thus it is likely that any who read ancient Christian literature will find this volume helpful The introduction is masterful No other volume known to me does that so well through the translated words of ancient leaders Whatever historical surveys one finds helpful they cannot replace this guide It is done with such competence and flair that specialists who are historians with no particular interest in ministry other than its being a feature of the early church will need to consult it Those however who as believers and ministers are attempting to serve contemporary congregations will devour this book No seminarian should be without it Frederick W Norris Second Century Adds a much needed dimension to the field of pastoral care A fascinating introduction tracing the concept of pastor through history The Living Church In evaluating the work of a pastor today there has been an imbalance caused by a neglect of the tradition of the church This is corrected by the present work which is a most interesting collection of extracts from the patristic period bearing on the work and spirituality of the Christian minister Theological Book Review Philip Culbertson is Adjunct Lecturer in Theology at the University of Auckland in New Zealand and Adjunct Instructor in Philosophy at College of the Desert in Palm Springs California He is an ordained Episcopal priest and
